Lola Grace Farmer's Market Pantry + Workshop Opens at Hanover Mall this Fall

Indoor market will feature local farmers & vendors, as well as offer DIY classes & events

HANOVER, Mass. - October 9, 2018 - Beginning November 11th, South Shore's own Lola Grace Events is bringing a creative and purposeful indoor market to The Hanover Mall featuring local farmers, artisans and makers. The Lola Grace Farmer's Market, Pantry + Workshop will feature local vendors selling farm fresh produce, honey, condiments, jams, sweet & savory baked goods, health & wellness products, fashion accessories and more. Additionally, various classes and events focusing on DIY, culinary, floral design, jewelry, fitness and more will be featured throughout the market's run.

“The South Shore is rich with quality local makers, farmers and artisans,” says Rachael Gross, owner, Lola Grace Events. “With the changing retail landscape - and weather, we saw an opportunity at The Hanover Mall to establish an innovative indoor space for the community to shop locally, create, and support small businesses.”

The market's “Workshop” will simultaneously offer a rotation of fun DIY classes to the community. Local makers and artisans will be featured on a rotating basis throughout the market's duration. Additionally, the on-site “Pantry” will feature a curated selection of non-perishable goods, wearables and décor.

Open every other Sunday from 11-3 in a transformed retail space across from Macy's, the market is currently scheduled 11/11, 11/25, 12/9, 12/23, 1/6, 1/20, 2/3, 2/17, 3/3, 3/17, 3/31 and 4/7.

The growing list of participating vendors currently includes: Bona Fido, Heart Beets Farm, Jammed with Love, The Sandpiper, Baking with Joy, The Vermont Syrup Company, Crockstyle Products, The Garden of Easton, Mayur Naturals, Wick3ed Sisters, Buds, Bracelet Bash, Keegan
